

The Curve

Diwali

*Celebratory food on sale in the restaurant all week from Monday 4th November from just £4.00

Join us to celebrate Diwali, the Hindu festival of light.

Our special Diwali menu includes a Goan fish curry and Lal Maas - a traditional Rajasthani lamb dish.

*A profusion of traditional goodies means the festival of lights might almost be called the festival of sweets, Diwali is a five day festival which starts on Dhanteras and ends on Bhaubeej.
During Diwali, all the celebrants wear new clothes and share Sweets with family members and friends.*

*In Britain, Hindus celebrate Diwali with great enthusiasm.
People clean and decorate their homes with lamps and candles. A popular type of candle is a diya. People also give each other sweets such as laddoo and barfi which you can sample in the Curve all week, and the different communities may gather for a religious ceremony and get-together. It is also an important time to contact family in India and perhaps exchange gifts.*